RE: Hill & Smith Inc. Metal Storage Building – Parcel #13-3S-16-02097-000 Stormwater/Drainage Analysis

To whom it may concern,

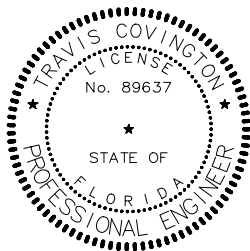

I have reviewed metal storage building plans provided by Reed McDaniel Construction, Inc. for construction on property located at 2118 NW County Road 25A, Lake City, FL 32055 for compliance with the County's stormwater management requirements. My findings are summarized below.

The new metal storage building will be constructed over existing impervious surfaces. The new building will not increase the amount of impervious surfaces on site and therefore will have no effect on current drainage patterns, nor cause an increase in surface runoff following storm events. There will be no adverse flooding effects created due to construction of this building.

I find this building construction, as presented, to be in conformance with Columbia County's stormwater management requirements.

Respectfully,
