A photograph showing a vertical wooden plank, possibly a piece of lumber, resting on a dark, textured surface. The plank has several pre-drilled holes and some visible wood grain. To the left of the plank, there is a pile of wood shavings and debris. A metal screw is visible near the top left. At the bottom, two green circular fasteners are visible, one on the left and one on the right, securing the plank to the surface. The text "Permit # 50964" is overlaid on the right side of the image.
