It sounds to me like we just need to reflect the new contractor on an amended application but it doesn't seem to me we should have to collect a second fee.

If you think I'm missing anything, please let me know.

Thanks,

Joel

Subject: Cold Storage Expansion

Mr. Foreman, we have a permit issued for an expansion at U.S.Cold storage. Per the owners the contractor is no longer on the job, and they have acquired a new contractor.

Normally we would get the letter from the owner, close existing permit and issue a new one. In this case we have verified that U.S. Cold paid the fees themselves for the permit. The question I have is can I transfer this permit to the new contractor and not asses new fees due to the fact that the owner paid the fees. I will still get the letter from owner stating original contractor is relieved from the project. Please advise.
