Hello,

Today we had our new pool enclosure inspected and approved, but the inspector (UNK) asked about the home alarms, which we did not know were required. That said, he mentioned we need to ensure they get installed and let the building department know to clear this action. Shame on me for not getting the details to validate they are installed. Are pictures authorized or once installed do we need to have an inspector come out to verify and approve? Any questions on this inquiry let me know.

Thank you, Robert Combs
