HOME CONSTRUCTION DATA

☐ Zone I ☒ Zone II ☐ Zone III

The home has not been designed for the highest wind pressure and producing conditions required for tropical coastal areas and should not be located within 100 ft of the shoreline in Zone I and II, unless the owner has approved the foundation system and has approved the foundation system for the proposed foundation system for Zone I or Zone II or Zone III.

The home has not been designed for high winds or high pressure conditions for windward side where wind speed is 100 mph or higher. For further design to be located in Zone I and II, which have not been approved for high winds or high pressure conditions, it is strongly recommended that the owner for more study be conducted with the owner's architect with the architect recommended in the owner's architect's office.
